The Hourglass Award of the Academy of Accounting Historians is presented annually to an individual who has made a demonstrable and significant contribution to knowledge through research and publication in accounting history. The judging panel will echo the tradition of openness and flexibility associated with the Award and will emphasize the importance of contribution as the fundamental criterion. To that end there is no restriction as to who may make a nomination, the country in which the nominee is resident, or the paradigms and methodologies employed in the nominee's work. Nominators are asked to supply a 200 word (maximum) statement summarizing the reasons why the nominee should be considered, full contact details of the nominator and nominee and a list of relevant contributions and any other relevant documentation supplied by the nominee who has agreed to be nominated.

Deadline for Nominations: June 15, 2017

Send nominations to: Academy Executive Committee at acchistory@case.edu. (<mailto:acchistory@case.edu>)

Congratulations to the 2016 Recipient!

Massimo Sargiacomo, University G.d'Annunzio of Chieti-Pescara

Massimo Sargiacomo is a tenured Professor of Accounting and Public Management in the Department of Management and Business Administration at the University G.d'Annunzio of Chieti-Pescara where he has also been sole Vice-Rector to Administration and Management, President of the Bachelor Degree Undergraduate Course on Economics and Management, President of the Research Committee of the Faculty of the Managerial Sciences, as well as of the Department of Management and Business Administration, and is still Director of the Phd Programme in "Accounting, Management and Business Economics". In addition to his current roles, he has active research collaborations with several colleagues at diverse universities, for example: Edinburgh Business School and Toronto Schulich School of Business.

Sargiacomo is a qualified chartered accountant and holds a degree in Economics and Commerce studies, a master's degree in Direction and Management of Healthcare Organizations, and a doctorate in Economics and Management of Businesses and Financial Institutions. He has also completed post-graduate coursework at Harvard University's School of Public Health. In the past 15 years, from Australia to America, Massimo has delivered speeches on Accounting History and Contemporary Accounting issues. Massimo is currently serving on the editorial boards of several academic journals, including: Critical Perspectives on Accounting; Accounting, Auditing and Accountability Journal; Accounting History Review; Accounting History; and De Computis. He has published over 50 academic papers in Italian and international refereed journals and is the director of the McGraw-Hill Education International Refereed Book Series: Contemporary issues in Accounting and Auditing (e.g. Financial Distress in Italian Public Administrations, McGraw-Hill, London-New York 2016) and co-editor of other books, including Accounting and Food (Routledge, London, 2016). Sargiacomo was the 2014-15 President of the Academy of Accounting Historians and is currently serving on the Board of Trustees. In addition, Massimo is the delegate to international relations of the Italian Society of Accounting History (SISR). In 2016, Massimo served as convener of the XIV World Congress of Accounting Historians, in Pescara, Italy.

In 2009, Massimo was the recipient of the Best Manuscript Award for a paper published in the journal, Accounting History, and in 2012, he won the Thomas Burns Biographical Research Award for a co-authored paper published in Accounting History Review. His current research is focused not only on accounting and business history, but also on Accounting for Natural Disasters and Accounting for High-Fashion/Luxury Companies.

Submissions and any other Notebook

This is an exciting time for the Academy as we leverage our successful past to expand our reach as a 21st century global organization.

We have substantially completed the transition from a standalone entity during early 2018 and we are now operating as a section within the American Accounting Association (AAA). A transition team has worked diligently since late 2015 to transfer the operations and dedicated resources of the Academy of Accounting Historians to a section within the AAA structure and we were welcomed at the AAA Centennial meeting in August 2016 as the newest section of the AAA.
